

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

H. A. Hulet of Arlington is a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator from Bennington county.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new factory of the Vermont Milk Chocolate company at Burlington to take the place of the one burned. About 125 men are employed there.

In Newport it has been necessary to suspend sprinkling of the streets on account of low water in the reservoir. Later it is expected water will be drawn from the lake for that purpose.

Rev. S. K. Meek, pastor of the Baptist church in Brookline, is working four nights a week for the Vermont Farm Machinery company in Bellows Falls. He makes the trip every day in his automobile.

Riley W. Roundy, aged 85, and Will Hastings, aged 78, both of West Burke, put into L. G. Roundy's barn last Thursday afternoon seven loads of hay and were none the worse for the violent exercise.

A cablegram received by Dr. MacMurphy of South Burlington announced the wounding of his son, Allen B. MacMurphy, in action. Lieut. MacMurphy received his commission at the first Plattsburg training camp.

Stanley J. Steward has been engaged as the teacher in the industrial school to be established in St. Johnsbury in connection with factory work this fall. He has had seven years' experience teaching mechanical subjects at the University of Maine, four years in the Boardman manual training school in New Haven and five years in the latter school after it was changed to a trade school.

START CAMPAIGN AUG. 1.

Meanwhile Preparations Are Being Made By Labor Board.

Although R. W. Simonds expected to be appointed a federal director in the U. S. employment service, he was unable to do much about the arrangements or making up of the personnel of the service until the appointment arrived. However, the Washington office has been sending out a great deal of information on the plans for the last few days so that the people will be well acquainted with the effort by Aug. 1, when the new work will be commenced. In the meantime it means some hustling for Mr. Simonds and Fred W. Sutor to get the plans in Vermont working.

The work of the community committee of the service will be one of the important factors of the effort, for a meeting of the representative employers in each community must be held when one of the number will be selected to represent the employers on the community board. A meeting of the employees will also be held and a member named for the committee. A man of influence in the community and who stands well with both employer and employee is then selected. Having completed that work, the committee will make a canvass of the industries, ascertaining what portion each non-war industry can give to war work. Where there are local war industries the help will probably be distributed among these.

This is going to be the biggest piece of work which the national council of defense has undertaken. Its purpose is to get into war work all the men who are now employed in non-essentials. In fact, the fight or war plan may as well apply to this new program as to the draft regulations. This must be done to hurry a successful ending of the war in favor of the United States and our allies. The patriotic organizations, four-minute men, editors of newspapers and magazines, federation of labor and its branches, as well as many other organizations, have been asked to help in this work.

GOING TO MISSOURI.

Prof. Clyde M. Hill Will Leave Vermont Next Week.

Prof. Clyde M. Hill, who has been the head of the junior high schools in the state for three years, leaves Monday for Springfield, Mo., where he takes up a year's work as the head of the state normal school in that state, in which the enrollment last year was 2,400 students. Early in the year Prof. Hill was elected professor of education in Cornell university and after the year's stay at Springfield he will begin his college duties and will be in charge of the junior high school training in Cornell. During next year Prof. Hill will reorganize the junior high school system in the state normal school at Springfield. He came to Vermont from the same school and has had a valuable experience in installing the system in this state. Prof. Hill accepted his new work with a condition attached which is going to benefit Vermont, for he will still remain at the head of the junior high school work in this state and from time to time, as occasion presents itself, he will come here to advise and supervise the work in the state. Prof. Hill is considered an expert in his branch of education. During his stay in the state his way of handling the work has drawn to him a large number of very close friends. Not in a long time has a man come to Vermont who has been able to fit into the Vermont confidence so well. Since it became known he was to leave, a great many expressions of regret have been received from educators in the state.

APPOINTED A LIEUTENANT.

Clyde C. Jakway of Brattleboro, in Aviation Service.

Brattleboro, July 27.—Clyde C. Jakway, who has lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Johnson of 22 Forest street, and who is in the aviation corps stationed at Calhoun field, Wichita Falls, Texas, has just received his commission as first lieutenant. Mr. Jakway was 19 years old last May and is a son of Mrs. Vera Jakway Wheeler of Barre, Mass., who is expected soon to visit her parents on Forest street.

He attended the Brattleboro high school and graduated from the Barre, Mass., high school in June, 1917. He enlisted in the aviation corps in September and received his first instruction at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was sent to Princeton university aviation training school and was graduated from that institution in February.

In his instruction at Calhoun field, he has performed all the flying stunts required in his 60 hours of flying, making the wing tail drop, backward loop and falling on wing. He passed all his tests with honor. Mr. Jakway expects to be transferred to South Carolina or Camp Dix soon.

HELPING THE UNFORTUNATE.

State Is Giving Operations for Three Children.

Secretary Jeffrey of the state board of charities and probation has completed his investigation of three defective child cases. They have been admitted to the Mary Fletcher hospital at Burlington for treatment.

The first case is that of a three months' old child which had its shoulder broken at time of birth. The physician reported that the child would never have real use of its arm unless it was taken to a hospital and operated upon. This child is illegitimate and is a case where an over-anxious over-see of the poor took a few dollars and let the man escape.

The second case is an eight-year-old boy with two club feet. It is proposed to operate upon this case and give this unfortunate child two good feet to go through life with. The third case is an 18-month-old boy with a club foot and a bad hernia.

After operation and treatment it is believed that these three children can be made physically well. In view of the fact the parents of these children are unable to secure for them the necessary medical and surgical assistance, the expense will be borne by the state board. Secretary Jeffrey has several deserving cases to investigate and if they are found to come within the scope of his work, they will soon be cared for.

Who Crippled the Ships?

There has been some uncertainty in the public mind till now regarding the source and conveyance of the orders to disable the engines of the German steamers which were interned in American ports. None of the agencies would say more than that the breakage was authorized by the German government. Secretary Lansing has now incidentally enlightened the country. It appears that while the head of the state department was pursuing the noisier tenor of his way in Washington the German ambassador in that city was noisily transmitting to the ship captains a command from the foreign office at Berlin to cripple the engines. Illustrating the hypocrisy and perfidiousness of German diplomacy, Mr. Lansing refers to the correspondence regarding the sinking of the Sussex. It may be remembered that in his dispatch of May 4, 1916, that the German government would "do its utmost to confine the operations of war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, thereby also insuring the freedom of the seas." He added that orders had been given to the German naval forces that "merchant vessels, both within and without the area prescribed as naval war zone, shall not be sunk without warning and without saving human lives, unless these ships attempt to escape or offer resistance." The promise was not kept. It was made to be broken. Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg practically admitted this when, in February, 1917, announcing ruthless submarine warfare, he said that the admiralty was not ready for it the previous summer, but had since obtained a sufficient number of boats. And Count von Bernstorff had known from the first that the promise was made merely to gain time for preparation. Mr. Lansing makes the plain statement that within six weeks after the German government had solemnly pledged its word Count von Bernstorff, appreciating the worthlessness of the promise, asked the Berlin foreign office to advise him in ample time before the campaign of submarine warfare was renewed in order that he might notify the German merchant ships in American harbors to destroy their machinery, because he anticipated that the renewal of that method of warfare would in all probability bring the United States into the war. So that was how the breaking of the machinery came about. The story is one more warning against acceptance of a promise of the German government. It may also suggest, in regard to other fields of slaughter, where Greeks, Armenians, Jews and Syrians perish, that no word of mercy in the German tongue will be heard by the Turkish government while Count von Bernstorff speaks for Berlin at Constantinople.—Boston Herald.

Percentage of Drill Attendance Shows Bellows Falls First.

W. W. Russell, adjutant of the Vermont Volunteer militia, has filed with Col. H. T. Johnson the rank of the different companies of the regiment, showing the percentage of drill attendance for the season of 1917-18. Bellows Falls has made the best showing and ranks first, while Bradford ranks lowest, Newport and Montpelier but little better. It is unique that while Bellows Falls rates first the third battalion of which it is a part, ranks lowest. The first battalion, as a unit, has the best attendance.

The showing is:

Fat Men Die Quickly.

There is an article in the August American Magazine about the dangers of overweight. The author says: "Data gathered by insurance companies show that after forty a higher death rate is to be found among persons who weigh more than the average for their height. When a man is in his fifties, if he is twenty pounds overweight, he has a fifteen per cent handicap mortality to face, and one who is forty pounds overweight increases his chances of dying by forty-five per cent.

"The reports also show that among the hundred thousand persons studied to obtain these facts not a single really fat person lived to be over eighty, whereas fourteen who were underweight reached eighty, and one man lived to celebrate his ninetieth birthday when his much stouter friends had long passed on to their graves."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. The inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that is cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, etc. J. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
